TED Earth Sciences Teaching Methods Forum is on hiatus until further notice.

NSF-funded WISER Program seeks candidates to teach Secondary STEM. TED members who know geoscience or other STEM undergraduates or recent graduates whom they think may be interested in this program should contact Christopher Roemmele at croemmele@wcupa.edu or 610-436-2108.

- “With funding from the National Science Foundation NOYCE grant, West Chester University (WCU) is offering the West Chester University Improving STEM Education through Residency (WISER) Program in which candidates will earn a Master's Degree and teaching certification in 13 months. Candidates in the program will take coursework such as secondary STEM teaching and learning outcomes, supporting English Language Learners, and literacy development, as well as a full semester of student teaching. Candidates will also have the opportunity to teach in a high-needs school (rural or urban). The Noyce Team at WCU is currently recruiting people with undergraduate or graduate degrees in STEM-related fields to apply for our first cohort of NOYCE scholars. The application deadline is March 1, 2023.”

Have you seen the new NAGT site? It looks great! Thanks to all who worked on these improvements. If you find a glitch or have a positive comment, please send it their way.

TED Newsletter will remain in the form of these short monthly updates - Please get me your news, photos, etc. Post time-critical info on our Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/NAGTTED/>

Eager to learn your good news,
